

MARKET SPY

There are many systems on the market at present extolling the virtues of following the live markets and rowing in with the horses that are seriously backed. I was introduced to the world of Horseracing / Gambling by my late father in the early 70's. But didn't really learn a lot from him, it was when I got to know my uncle who was a semi professional gambler again in the early seventies. He used to place money for a group of Jewish businessmen who at the time were privy to some serious information. They paid my uncle a commission from their winnings for placing the bets around the bookmakers in the local area. He of course would back the selections himself and made a pile of cash doing this. I got to know him quite well and shared a few strategies and ideas, one of which at this time was very lucrative but not practical as it meant spending all of your time in the bookmakers shop which in the 70's was rather boring as all racing was transmitted over a tannoy system, there were no tea machines, televisions or one armed bandits. (sorry there was the guy that used to chalk up the prices and results).

The strategy was to back all horses that were 17/2, 15/2 or 13/2 in the betting just before the off. I don't know why but in this period we had about a 50% strike rate with these bets and made serious money when we had time to spend in the shops. My uncle's theory was that the bookies didn't know how to price these horses up. They were taking money for them but didn't want to shorten them to an unbackable price. Thus the half point in the prices 6.5, 7.5 and 8.5.

Today this strategy does not work. But doing some work on prices I wondered if you could back horses at other prices blindly and make a level stakes profit? The answer is yes! 11/8, 13/8 and 15/8, on flat racing turf and All weather.

Below are a list of results covering a period of just over 12 months. There were 411 bets producing 199 winners, giving a strike rate of 48% .

Bets at 11/8 = 121

Bets at 13/8 = 131

Bets at 15/8 = 159

The median price was 1.648 (near as damn it 13/8) the actual strike rate should be 38% (and strangely enough following these prices in the Racing post betting forecast exactly mirrors that strike rate) We beat the expected strike rate by 10%. And because all of our selections are odd's against we are guaranteed to make a profit backing these selections blindly an actual return on investment of 27% and a level stake profit of 112 points.

Unlike the original strategy you are more or less guaranteed a bet most days. There aren't many tipsters who can boast results like these yet you have no form study racing papers to buy just watch the markets.

Staking.

You might be happy to level stake the selections. Once you have doubled your bank you could double your stake (compounding) this would enhance your profits greatly. You could also implement a fibonacci style staking plan E.G. 1,2,3,5,8,13, etc. But because your longest losing run stretches to nine you may wish to stop say 4 losers and then start betting again when your next winner comes along. The possibilities for staking are endless. Also from a laying point of view be wary of horses that go off at these prices as they have such a high strike rate.

Again this trend may be a fluke, but there is certainly food for thought.
